MAY GENERAL MEETING

TODAY'S SPEAKER: JEFFREY SHEARER, PUBLISHER OF "ON THE BAY" MAGAZINE

APRIL SPEAKER

Our speaker was Joyce Mayne who is the fundraising coordinator for the Canadian Cancer Society in the Barrie Area. Joyce, who is a cancer survivor, spoke to us about the upcoming "Relay for Life" which will take place at the Collingwood GNE Fair Grounds on June 23. Teams of 10 will participate in a relay that lasts through the night. "Relay for Life" is a celebration that includes a cancer survivor's victory lap, a candle lighting (luminary) ceremony, incentive prizes, opening and closing ceremonies, food, cancer education, team photos and entertainment.

Team members take turns running or strolling around a track in ½ hour increments. The luminary candles will be placed around the track and lit after dark in remembrance or in honor of individuals who have battled cancer. Each team will have a tent where they can retreat to for some quiet time. Joyce's speech was very moving and some of the Probuc membership has expressed interest in being on a team.

PREVIOUS SOCIAL EVENTS

BACK ROOM - MYSTERY PLAY & DINNER APRIL 21 Reported by Mary Barnes

23 Skidoo!

All spiffed up the big cheeses were out in abundance as were the dolled up molls and flappers. The joint was hopping and the giggle water flowing. Scriptwriter Joanne Scruton did it again, creating a plot worthy of the Roaring Twenties. Along with producer Joan Porter and the gang, they made the annual mystery play and dinner a resounding success through their hard work and perseverance. Written in four parts, the actors kept the audience puzzled as to who the killer was from their "don't know from nothing" claims to the baloney accusations pitted against each other. Was Bugsey a stoolie, Harrow a straight arrow, Torchy an assassin, Ernie a gambler? We know Silky was a madam, Billy a thrower, Molly a mobster, Eddie argyle socks and Malice forethought. All in all, no one was left holding the bag. Silky "fessed up" and all was well with the world again.

From the mug shot of Al Capone jazzed up by Lucille Mancer to Ray Porter's remarkable replicas of Tommy guns, the evening bubbled with authenticity. And during intermission, Marilyn Ruse and her dancers cut a rug with the Charleston while Lorraine Doidge tickled the ivories for our pleasure. What a hotsy-totsy evening! Everything was ducky.

A note from Joan Porter: Murder Mystery was a tremendous success. The Actors did a "very fine" job indeed. 120 tickets sold and 4 did not make it. Again thanks to all that were involved in one way or another, particularly those who "dressed" for the occasion. Doris again – we should put her on our payroll as she seems to work at ALL our events snapping pictures all night long – great job Doris. Those of you that paid your $1.00 can take your picture from the Easel. THOSE OF YOU WHO DID NOT PAY FOR YOUR PICTURE on Friday night please make sure you leave your $1.00.

OPP MUSEUM TOUR

APRIL 24

Reported by Diane Nagel

On April 24, 36 Beachcombers made the trek up to Orillia to tour the Ontario Provincial Police General Headquarters and thoroughly enjoyed their day.

Sitting on a 13 acre site, the headquarters building was opened in 1995 and is some 500,000 square feet in size. Close to 1,000 staff work at this site and about 2/3 of the building is devoted to operational work. Sgt. Peter McGuinness was our tour guide for the day and provided much information about the OPP's history and operations. The tour included a walk along the main floor "public street" including a visit to the library, the museum and the Honor Roll dedicated to officers who lost their lives in the line of duty. On display, as we walked along were three cruisers and a current all white vehicle.

A short walk outside over to the heliport and we spent an enjoyable 20 minutes talking to one of the OPP pilots about the two helicopters and their uses in the OPP-search and rescue and, at certain times of the year, searching for marijuana grow operations, among others.

We also toured the stores area which supplies uniforms and equipment to some 7,000 OPP officers stationed throughout the province and the garage which equips the various cars, motorcycles, snowmobiles, boats and all terrain vehicles used to police the province.

After lunch at the OPP cafeteria "The Steak Out", we were given a presentation on forensic identification, starting with the theme music from CSI. And last, but for some not the least, a visit to the "OPP Off Duty Shoppe" which sells a large variety of OPP logo-ed clothing and other items.

For those who were unfortunate enough to miss the tour, the mail floor of the building, including the museum and cafeteria, is open to the general public during normal business hours.

Thanks go to Diane Nagel for organizing this event and preparing a "Newsletter" report!
